LAMAR is almost the only Democra+ in Congress who has either humanity or political craft enough to denounce the Hamburg massacre in such terms as it deserves.

THE Greenbackers of Indiana, have concluded that they will not, in any event, support Tilden and Hendricks. but will stand by Peter Cooper and their own State ticket

THE letter of acceptance of Wm. A. Wheeler, Republican candidate for Vice President, is, like that of Gov. Hayes, plain, practical and positive, and will be approved by every Republican everywhere. Read it.

On Saturday last the President sent to the Senate the names of Geo. F. Talbot, of Maine, as Solicitor of the Treasury, vice Bluford Wilson, and Thomas J. Brady, of Indiana, as Seeond Assistant Postmaster General.

And still they come. The leading Democratic paper of Lincoln, Nebraska, the Daily Globe, hoists the names of Hayes and Wheeler, declaring this as "the only course left since the fatal action of the St. Louis Convention."

HON, GRORGE E. PUGH, one of the most prominent Democrats in the State, which he at one time represented in the U. S. Senate, died at his home in Cincinnati, on Wednesday evening of last week, aged fifty-four BRICK POMEROY has started a new paper called the Great Campaign, at Chicago. It will oppose Tilden. Brick is a brick-of-a-Democrat, but Slippery Samuel and John Morrisseythe boss of railroad plunderers and the boss of the gambling dens of Saratoga, are too much for even his cast iron stomach. Too much crow in it.

DRMOCRATIC "Reform" is illustrated by the way they do things in Chicago, where they had control for several years. The city owes its laborers, its police, its teachers and its officers, and there is no money in its treasury. That was the style in New York, and will be the style in the general government if the Democracy elect Tilden.

So the policies of England and Russia are made apparent, as regards the Turkish and Servian war. If the Servians are likely to succeed, England will assist Turkey. If the Turks are likely to succeed, Russia will aid the Servians. And the first blow struck by either will result in a general war. MORRISON, of Illinois and Lamar, of Mississippi, are both after Hendricks' place on the Democratic ticket, and are both doing their utmost to prevent the repeal of the Resumption clause demanded by the Democratic platform and insisted on by Hendricks. Lamar's sentiments are in harmony with the peace resolution supported by Tilden in 1864.

It is now suggested that Tilden will not write his letter of acceptance until after the October elections. He is waiting for "more light" on the sub-

In Indiana the Republicans opened the campaign on the 20th. Twentyeight meetings were held and numerously attended. Vigorous speeches were made, and great enthusiasm prevailed. THE way "all the Germans go for Tilden," as announced by a Democratspeaker at the recent ratification meeting, is illustrated by the fact that out of sixty German daily newspapers published in this country, only eighteen of them support "oily Samuel." HON, N. H. VAN VOORHIS, of Ath ens, has been nominated for Congress by the Republicans of the Fourteenth Ohio District. The nomination is equivalent to an election. Mr. Van Voorhis well deserves the compliment. He is a gentleman of high character and fine ability, and one of the most useful members of the present House. The District has done a wise thing in retaining him in the public service.

THE Democratic House, while so loudly professing economy, has by its delay stripped its measures of all such claim. They have already, by extending the appropriations of last year from time to time, made appropriations for one month at last year's rate, and when the one-twelfth thus appropriated is added to the amounts appropriated by the regular bills, it will well the aggregate to as large a sum as hat appropriated last year. DEMOCRATIC "REFORM" ILLUS TRATED. In 1875 the Democracy had control bill was as follows:

in the State of New York. The said corporation is hereby authorized to grant diplomas and honorary testimonials in such form and under such regulations as its board of trustees determine to any person who shall have or may hereafter be graduated at any seminary of learning of said corporation located within this State; and any such graduate to whom a diploma may be awarded may file such diproma, or a duplicate thereof in the Department of Public Instruc tion, and the Superintendent of Public Instruction may thereupon in his discretion issue a certificate to the effect that such graduate is a qualified teach er of the common schools of this State, S. J. TILDEN

Many months elapsed after this bill was passed and approved by Tilden before it became generally known that there was such a law on the Statute books, and the excitement the discovery occasioned will be remembered. It placed the Gray Nuns' seminaries over and above every other educational institution in the State, inasmuch as it gave graduates of that institution privilege to teach without attending Normal Schools, or without being subjected to exemination. The tendency of Democratic "Reform" can be plain

THE JEFF, of last week, devotes early one-half of its space to what it calls a record of Samuel J. Tilden. The editor knew at the time that all the matter published was untrue, and that they had been retailed during his canvass for Governor of New York, which resulted in his election by over 50,000 majority. WASHINGTON, July 16 .- The House was thrown into a fever of excitement during the discussion of the Texas border resolution yesterday afternoon, by an amendment offered by Mr. Smalls of South Carolina, providing that no troops for the purposes named in the resolutions shall be drawn from the State of South Carolina so long as the militia of that State peaceably assem-bled are assaulted, disarmed, and taken prisoners, and then massacred in cold blood by lawless bands of men invading that State from Georgia. The thinly disguised object of this amendment was to plunge the House into a political debate of the bloody shirt order, and it was fully successful. Mr.

ored account of the late Hamburg riot and was followed by Mr. Cox who very foolishly tried to apologize for the cold blooded massacre of pegro prisoners there a week ago; for, although he did not excuse those who took part in it in so many words, that was the effect of his speech. The excitement increased as Mr. Hartridge caused to be read a letter from Gen, M. C. Butler defending himself for the part he took in the affair, and Mr. Rainey made a very loquent and impassioned appeal for he protection of his race. The only esult of the debate was to postpone and endanger the passage of a rest tion providing for the employment of the soldiers of the United States where they can protect American citizens om robbery and murder, while the Republican party manufactured care paign capital out of a most unfortui nate and indefensible affair, which, however, was no more political in its character than the terrible tragedy in Newark last week .- New York Trib une Special. That so able and respectable a paper as the Tribune, which has been clamorous for the reform of abuses in every branch of the public service, should allow articles like the above place in its columns is to be wondered at, and the more especially, when in a following article in the same paper, it assumes the defence of the workmen who drove the Newark murderers into the Passaic and stoned them till they were drowned. There is a striking similar ity in the action of the Thielhorn brothers and the mob led by Gen. M. C. Butler, which murdered the negroes in cold blood at Hamburg, and the defence of the one and the condemnation of the other, is a specimen of inconable a journal. The Constitution of the United States declares: "A well regulated militia being necssary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear sistency rarely met with in so respect-arms, SHALL NOT be infringed." And further: "No person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property, without due process of law. In defiance of the rights guaranteed under the first provision quoted, a company of militia parading in ranks of four on a street over one hundred feet wide, was stopped by two white men in a buggy and obliged to open its ranks and permit the whites to drive through, when there was abundance of room on either side of the space occupied by the company in marching. There is no pretense made that the negroes attempted to interfere with the white men, further than to claim the right to march without interruption, yet here was "the right of the people peaceably to assemble" outraged. Next day the white men had warrants issued for the arrest of officers of the company, which was done, but the trial was postponed. Meanwhile the white citizens began assembling armed with guns and pistols, and the negroes took refuge in the armory. Fearing injury m the armed whites, they failed appear at the hour of trial, and the court, after calling the case, took no steps to procure their attendance. The white mob, however, demanded their surrender, and the giving up of their arms, without a shadow of authority, an invasion of both provisions of the Constitution above quoted. Then came the fight and the murders, and the capture of the negroes; the calling of them out one by one, and the cold blooded butchery of six of the number. What court had tried them? What court condemned them? What court deprived them "of life, liberty and property, by due process of law?" Is there no political significance in this. Now take the other case: Officers armed with "due process of law" attempted to arrest the Theilhorns, and were murdered, and the Thielhorns, like the white mob, set out on a mur dering expedition, and became a mob. The workmen in the tannery resisted them, and in attempting to vindicate the law drove the murderers into the Passaic, and stoned them till they were drowned. For this they are defended by the Tribune thus: The Thiellforns it was clearly neces sary to arrest before they killed more men, may be women and children. --For one of them a warrant had aiready been issued, and he was resisting "the majesty of the law," while his brothers were aiding and abetting him. All three were thus outside the pale. We speak particularly of this case, because we find it mentioned as an instance of the exercise of lynch law. It was nothing of the kind. The Theilhorns were simply dangerous felons, whom it was absolutely necessary to secure for the sake of the public safety .-There could be no malice aforethought in the treatment to which they were subjected. The mob was really maintaining "the majesty of the law," and the slight error which it committed in going a little too far is one which it would not be difficult to extenuate. The same reasoning could more justly be used in favor of the blacks. They were armed with constitutional rights, were violating no law; more, were not confronted with lawful authority, or as the Attorney General in his report

"The demand on the militia to give up their arms was made by persons without lawful authority to enferce the demand or receive the arms had they been surrendered." The mob which murdered the blacks occupied precisely the seme relation to the law which the Thielhorns did, and had the blacks treated them as the workmen did the Thielhorns, they would have been entitled to the same vindication the Tribune offers in behalf of the Thielhorns, and the Congressmen who argued in favor of sustaining the law and protecting the constitutional rights of the citizens, were but performing a simple duty for which they should be commended, instead of being succeed at, for unfurling the bloody shirt. But there was a "political character about it. The blacks were Republican, and as such were assailed in order to "destroy or intimidate them," to create a terrorism which would prevent them from excercising their political rights -just as in Mississippi, a year ago, they were prevented from exercising their political franchise. Defend such outrages upon the rights of the colored citizens, and how long will it be before the rights of the whites will be similarly assailed? It is a dangerous and suicidal policy to observe one rule in regard to one class of citizens, and another rule for another class. Laws to maintain respect and impel obedience must make no distinction between cit-

The House has at last passed a bill for the protection of the Texas frontier. It authorizes the President to station along the Rio Grande River two regints of cavalry for field service, and such infantry force as may be necessary for garrison duty, filling up each troop with recruits to the standard of one hundred men. THE PARTY OF PREEDOM.

The the commany of doctrines enunciated by the Convention, I give my cordial assent. The Republican party has intrenened in the organic law of our hand the doctrine that fiberty is the supreme and unchangable law lovewery foot of American soil. It is the mission of that party to give full effect to this principle by 'securing to every American citizen complete liberty and exact equality in thee service of all civit, political and public rights. This will be accomplished only when the American citizen, without regard to color, shall wear this panoply of citizenship as fully and securely in the canebrakes of Louisiana as on the banks of the St. Lawrence.

Upon the question of our Southern rein-ons, my views were recently expressed as a center of the Committee of the United lates Horse of Representatives upon South-in Affairs, These views remain unclanged, id thus expressed: "We of the North de-

The foregoing are the chief among the car-dinal principles of the Republican party, and to carry them into full practical effect is and to carry them into full practical effect is the work now on hand.

To the completion of its great mission, we address ourselves in hope and confidence, cheered and stimulated by the recollection of its past achievements, remembering that under God it is to that party that we are indebted, in this Centennial year of our existence, for the preserved, unbroken Un on; for the fact that there is no master or slave throught our broad dominions, and that emancipated millions look upon the easign of the Republic as a symbol of the fulfilled declaration that all men are created free and

The ice business is in the hands of two companies, and, being thus placed, it is a huge monopoly. Theo dore has taken the boy Ralph to his father's house in New Jersey, leaving Mrs. T. only one of the children, at which the lady demurs, and will take legal steps to get possession. Mrs. Tilton is in close straits to live. She has kept boarders, but failing in that, has been reduced to the necessity of sewing by the day. Mr. Tilton has sent her money time and again, but she has stubbornly refused to accept assistance from him in any form. Tilton has tried to get money to her by round about ways, so that she should not know that it came from him but in every instance she has detected his good intentions, and returned it. In one instance she sent back money that came from a particular friend of her mother, for fear that it came from Theodore, and no assertions to the contrary could make her believe but that he sent it. She is a stubborn little woman, and will die before she will be under obligations to him. The old scandal is very likely to be revived again. By the way, Mr. Beecher ought to take her to the

IN POLITICS I have to report that Tilden is losing every day, and Haves and Wheeler are gaining. The "Reform" Democracy headed by Morrisev and Tweed's old friends, have shown their hands too soon. We have emigrants from all the countries of the world except Arabia, and now that country has contributed its quota. Nine Arab stone-cutters, having heard fabulous accounts-of the wages that were being paid in this country, made their way hither and landed in New York last week. The poor fellows could not speak a word of English or any other language that could be understood by any one here, and only by signs did they make their wants known. They were disappointed to find that thousands of stone-cutters were out of work, and as they had no means, of course they found themselves in Bellevue Hospital, living at the expense of the city.
